Do We Have a Right to Destroy Another?

Victor M. Eskew

There are so many people in the world who believe they have a right to "destroy" another person.

By "destroy," we mean:

- Their reputation
- Their family
- Their businesses
- Their finances
- Their influence
- Their success
- Their happiness
- Their friendships
- Their opportunities
- Sadly, some might like to destroy their life

Does any one human being have the right to do this do another human being?

Some say: "Yes."

- I hate you, so I will destroy you.
- I disagree with you, so I will destroy you.
- You oppose me, so I will destroy you.
- You are different than me, so I will destroy you.
- You do let me do what I want to, so I will destroy you.
- I can't beat your arguments, so I will destroy you.
- You make me follow rules, so I will destroy you.
- You expose my hypocrisy, so I will destroy you.

My friends, as long as this kind of thinking exists, we will live in a dangerous world. We will constantly live under the threat of destruction by others because they do not like us. Crazy.

Fortunately, there are still good people in the world. Many of them call themselves Christians. They will do unto others only what they want done unto themselves. They will love their neighbors as they love themselves. They make the world a safer, nicer place.

No one, NO ONE has the right to destroy another person. When we do this in any way, Satan is being allowed to rules one's life.

Instead of destroying another, try loving him/her.

If you are visiting with us today - Welcome to Clinton! We are glad you're here!

THE ELDERS CORNER

I think there is a tendency to feel like "I" can handle any problems that come my way. What I and probably a lot of us need to remember is to give thanks for blessings and to share our burdens with Him. The answer for all of us in in Philippians 4:6-7.
